About Us

The publishing house 'Nolok Publication' debuted in February 2016 with this slogan in search of excellence in creative publishing.

Even a few years ago, there were almost no creative publications of international standard in our country. Although our readership has grown exponentially and print quality has grown significantly internationally, we felt that our country's creative publishing industry was lagging far behind. There was, and still is, a huge potential for improvement in both printing and marketing. Our belief in this and our experience in the publishing world have inspired us to establish 'another revelation'.

Since its inception, Nolok publication is now a prestigious publishing house to the civil society, including writers, readers and booksellers in the country, through our continuous efforts for the betterment of publishing, modern marketing system and publisher-writer professional relationship. Our book number has been published by almost all the authors of almost seven hundred countries. Besides, books by many young but talented writers have also been published from other publications. The experience of the elders and the manifestation of the talented youth is another manifestation.
